ANNUAL REPORT

Part I - General

The year under review marked the change from war to peacetime operations. Surpluses arising from wartime operations have been disposed of to a large extent but some still remained and in addition the current surpluses from government departments and agencies were processed. As it was the government's decision to continue to have one disposal agency for all government departments and agencies, the Surplus Crown Assets Act was amended in December, 1949, to bring the operations of the Corporation in line with peacetime requirements. The amending Act eliminated the Crown Assets Allocation Committee set up to advise the Minister on matters relating to the use, disposal of or dealing with surplus Crown assets. The direction of this Committee was of importance during the time of intense activity, immediately after the cessation of hostilities, when urgent disposal action was required for vast quantities of surplus. With the return of more normal conditions, the need for this Committee ceased and its duties were assumed by the Corporation. The procedures and directions initiated by the Committee were carried on in so far as they applied to existing requirements.

The amending Act provided for some departments to continue disposal of items over which they had jurisdiction and where disposal tied in with their operations.

The name of the Corporation was changed from War Assets Corporation, the new name Crown Assets Disposal Corporation more accurately describing the continuing functions of the Corporation.

PERCENTAGE OPERATION

In accordance with the Surplus Crown Assets Act the Corporation operates on a percentage of the net proceeds of sales and for the fiscal year 1949-50 an allowance of 10 per cent was granted. Operations were well within this percentage, as the Administrative Expense was 4.52 per cent of net sales and the total of both operating and administration expense was only 6.92 per cent of the gross sales. In other words the cost of disposal was less than 7 cents for every dollar's worth of surplus sold.

ORIGINAL VALUES

Records of original values of surplus assets are not maintained by the Corporation, as such a record cannot be fully compiled. Original cost figures are not available in some cases, which may be due to the declared items forming a part only of the original equipment. Mixed scrap declared by weight, is another instance. In special cases when it is required to establish a definite relationship between the sale price and the original cost, the declaring department is, in most instances, able to give the required information. This, however, cannot be followed with all declarations because of the reasons given above.

CUSTODIANS

Surplus items declared to the Corporation remain in the custody of the declaring department until sold and arrangements are then made for that department to ship the goods in accordance with instructions issued by the Corporation. As practically all goods are sold on an "as is where is" basis, purchasers are required to make their own arrangements for loading and pick up, so that the custodian has the minimum amount of work to perform in releasing the goods. This system is satisfactory as long as adequate selling prices can be maintained but if they are not maintained it may be necessary to modify our present procedure and resort to physical segregation by warehousing. This could only be undertaken provided the net return in dollar value compensated for the additional expense involved.

DEFERRED ACCOUNTS (RECEIVABLES)

At the close of business on March 31st, 1950, the balance due on long term sales agreements was $31,799,187.47. This is largely made up of amounts due on sales of industrial plants and cargo vessels the latter formerly operated by Park Steamship Company, Limited, a Government company. The deferred accounts for cargo vessels amount to 59 per cent of the total accounts receivable, and in all instances protection is provided by mortgages. Collection of ship accounts has been somewhat difficult and there are some arrears. A large number of these ships were tied up at Montreal, Halifax and other ports unable to operate to meet the competition of ships under European registry. The Government, through the Canadian Maritime Commission having arranged to put most of these ships back into operation by placing them under registries other than Canadian with ownership, however, remaining with the original Canadian companies, it is hoped that the Canadian owners will be in a position to liquidate their accounts with the Corporation without further difficulties.

REORGANIZATION

During the year further reorganization took place in order to co-ordinate the work to meet the conditions prevailing in the number and types of declarations being received. The Commodity Sales Division operated from current declarations only, all warehouse stocks having been disposed of but the Lands and Buildings Division still had an appreciable number of properties of wartime projects.

Sales offices are maintained at Halifax for the Maritimes, Ottawa for Quebec and Eastern Ontario, Toronto for Ontario West of Kingston, Calgary for Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and the North West Territories and Vancouver for British Columbia.

STAFF

Work in all divisions was concentrated at the Head Office in Ottawa with only sales representatives in the field. As the work contracted corresponding reductions in the general staff were effected. It is now considered that the present staff numbering 116 will be sufficient to cope with the present average number of declarations received from day to day.

Part II - Sales Divisions

COMMODITY SALES

Commodity Sales (stores and equipment) covered a very wide range of items. These consisted for the most part of office supplies, military stores and equipment, machinery, miscellaneous small boats, automobiles, trucks and scrap material of various kinds. A considerable portion of declared items had some value as an article of use although some items reported as usable were found to be unfit for anything but scrapping.

Although Reports of Surplus were in excess of the previous year, the recovery value was considerably lower. This was due to the type and quantity of the material declared surplus and also the sales resistance encountered in the earlier part of the year. Prices receded considerably, reaching a low point in June, 1949. Since that time there has been some improvement, particularly in ferrous and non-ferrous metals.

Except for individual items of machinery and equipment and items of scrap, the procedure is to bulk saleable items together in any one location as well as can be done without physical handling and to offer batches of near like materials in lots large enough to attract the buyer. In cases where declarations in any one location cover miscellaneous materials in small quantities, where segregation would not be economical, a miscellaneous bulk sale is resorted to. The initial effort is to sell in the district in which the surplus originates but should it be considered that the resulting bids are not satisfactory the requests for bids are enlarged to include other districts in Canada. Special equipment and single items of value are advertised for sale in appropriate journals and in daily newspapers.

The Lands and Buildings Division continued to dispose of properties used for war purposes and additional reports of surplus received from day to day. Record is made of the following items of special interest.

MULTIPLE TENANCIES

At the time Canada was commencing to rehabilitate her normal commercial life after the war, manufacturing and warehouse space were at a premium. The demand for space was largely from smaller manufacturers wishing to secure space with comparatively small areas. The Government was interested in locating these manufacturers in order to assist in reconstruction and in encouraging industry. Three locations were selected for this purpose, two properties in Quebec Province (Montreal and Verdun) and one in Ontario (Toronto). In all 98 tenants employing approximately 5,000 people were accommodated in the three buildings which were operated under managements reporting to this Corporation. All three properties were advertised for sale and the tenants were invited to submit bids collectively. On each of the three properties these tenants, who formed operating companies, were the successful bidders for the properties where they were located and they thus ensured themselves of continued occupancy. This concluded a very satisfactory arrangement with no hardships inflicted on the occupants of the three premises or their employees which could possibly have been the case had they been sold to outside interests.

UNITED STATES FACILITIES

The important United States facilities at Prince Rupert, B.C., which were purchased by the Canadian Government, were disposed of. These consisted of a dock (a continuation of an existing dock), a large four-storey warehouse and an administration building.

The dock extension was taken over by the Department of Transport for use by the Canadian National Railways. Every endeavour was made to sell the warehouse for use as such but there was no response either in Prince Rupert or elsewhere, and the Corporation was forced to dispose of this property for demolition. The administration building was sold to be used for apartment accommodation.

Details of sales of $5,000 and over are given in the Second Section of this report.

Part III - Statistics

As there still remain certain war surpluses which are being cleared along with normal government surpluses and as there can be no line of demarcation between the two types, it is considered advisable to continue to record the results of the Corporation's operations from the beginning.

I have examined the accounts of Crown Assets Disposal Corporation for the year ended March 31, 1950, and have obtained all the information and explanations I have required. The Corporation's procedures and practices with regard to the warehousing of surpluses in prior years did not permit establishing by examination of records maintained that all Crown assets received for disposal had been accounted for, but, with the closing of all warehouses, this comment does not apply to the accounting for assets declared surplus during the year under review.

Subject to the foregoing and the fact that the value of surplus Crown assets held for disposal is not reflected therein, the above Balance Sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Corporation's affairs, and of its Trust, as at March 31, 1950, according to the best of my information and the explanations given to me and as shown by the books of the Corporation.

Part V - Directors and Officers

J. H. Berry resigned as President and as a Director on July 31, 1949, to assume an important position with the A. V. Roe Company Limited, Malton, Ontario. Mr. Berry was President from July, 1945, and Chairman of the Crown Assets Allocation Committee, from which position he also resigned. Mr. Berry's tenure of office included the period of greatest activity in the disposal of surplus both from the Government and from industry immediately after the cessation of hostilities. From December, 1947, to July 31, 1949, Mr. Berry administered Part III of the Emergency Exchange Conservation Act for the Department of Trade and Commerce and did not take an active part in the affairs of the Corporation.

H. R. Malley, Vice-President and General Manager and Acting President during the absence of Mr. Berry, was appointed President as of August 1, 1949.

E. R. Birchard, Vice-President, National Research Council, was appointed Director to replace Mr. Berry on the Board.

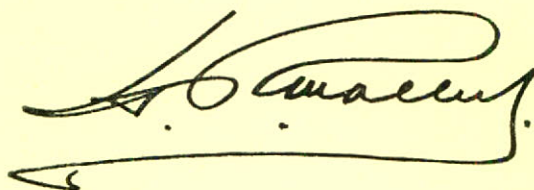

On January 31, 1950, R. P. Saunders, Vice-President and Secretary and a Director resigned on account of ill health and was succeeded by L. Richard as Director and Vice-President. Mr. Richard who was Comptroller retains that position.

E. F. Coughlin, formerly Assistant Secretary, was appointed Secretary on February 1, 1950.

It is a pleasure to record the loyalty and assistance of the staff during the difficult period of readjustment in the Corporation's affairs.

On behalf of the Directors,

Respectfully submitted,

President.
