CANADIAN WESTINGHOUSE COMPANY, LIMITED

THIRD ANNUAL REPORT

DECEMBER 31st, 1906.

The Directors herewith submit balance sheet for the year ended December 31st, 1906, together with profit and loss account for that date, showing a profit of $346,961.05 from the Company's operations during the past fiscal year and a surplus of $279,452.40 on December 31st, 1906, after payment of a dividend of 6% on the Capital Stock employed during the year and the creation of a reserve of $100,000 for depreciation of property and plant and $20,000 for future adjustments of inventory of materials and products as occasion may require.

The plant and equipment of the Company have only recently been completed at costs less than present values; nevertheless, your Directors have considered it a conservative measure to create a Reserve Fund for future depreciation.

Your Directors have also thought best to create a reserve for possible reduction of values of material and products on hand at close of the year although the amount of these items as shown on the statement correctly represents their actual costs according to a careful inventory.

During the year the Capital Stock of the Company was increased from two and one half millions to five million dollars, and one million dollars of this increase was sold at par to the shareholders. The statement of assets included in balance sheet herewith submitted, shows the application of this additional capital.

The gross shipments during the year increased approximately 40% compared with the previous year and about 100% compared with the year ended December 31st, 1904.

Continued prosperity and business activity still prevail throughout the Dominion and the prospects for the coming year are favorable for a further extension of the business of your company. Unfilled orders on January 1st, 1907, aggregated $1,637,658.00.

By order of the Board,

GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE,
President.
