Dear Dr. Penfield

I was much interested in your new Institute and the care and artistic thought you bestow upon the exterior. I think your designs very pretty and appropriate. — I just returned from my vacation in the Canadian Woods and shall be very busy with the new classes for several weeks to come. To design a shield or bookplate is quite a little problem and I feel that I do not have the leisure at the present time to do the thing right. I did make a hasty sketch, which in its essentials is your idea. I enclose it in this package with all the material you sent me. I am so sorry I did not know about your wish early in the summer. We might have worked out a dignified and artistic design. If you are not in a hurry about the bookplate, I shall be very glad to try my hand at it later in the year.

If your institute should require the service of a first rate medical illustrator, I think that I can recommend a splendid one. However I do not wish to interfere with any of my former pupils, who now illustrate in Montreal. With kindest regards Yours most sincerely Max Brödel.

P.S. I enclose 2 sketches.
