PERSONAL.

Dr. Alan Gregg,
Rockefeller Foundation,
61, Broadway,
New York City.

My dear Gregg,

You will probably hear from Sir Arthur Currie that the Governors met yesterday and accepted the gift of the Foundation with gratitude, but I cannot help now sending you this personal word after the whole transaction is completed.

It is really a wonderful gift, and one which has given me, personally, so much kick and inspiration to go ahead for such time, as I may continue in this job, that I cannot tell you how appreciative I am.

I feel sure that you must have had many heart-burnings as to what the right thing was to do, and your very liberal and generous attitude towards us in listening to our plea is something about which I am very conscious.

I am enclosing, herewith, a copy of this morning's "Gazette" to give you an evidence of the significance that is attached to this gift by the best and cleanest paper in Canada. Such big headlines as have appeared in this paper are very unusual, so you will be able to judge from this how the Press regards the Foundation's generosity. I hope the facts as you read them seem all right.

With all kind regards to you and yours,

Very gratefully,

C. S. Martin

P.S. I am still blushing over the misconception I obtained over the telephone when Mrs. Penfield read me your letter! I suppose the excitement blunted my perception.
