Dear Gregg,

I am sending you a group of prospectuses, not to boom Canada as it may seem, but to give you names of places in the Laurentians to which you might like to take Mrs. Gregg in case her hay fever becomes troublesome. The only place with which I am familiar is the Chalet Cochand at St. Marguerite. That is excellent for ski-ing in the winter but I do not know how suitable it is in summer because it is not on water. I think probably some of the other places would be better. I am quite sure she would be free of her hay fever if she gets into the pines.

We would love to have you come to see us at Magog some time in August or the first part of September, and hope she would not be bothered there.

With best regards,

Ever yours,

Wilder Penfield
