

9th November 1934.

Sir Charles Sherrington,
9 Chadlington Road,
Oxford.

Dear Sir Charles,

Your cablegram of congratulations arrived just in time for the opening of the Institute, and I had a great deal of pleasure in reading it to the guests at dinner that evening.

It was a very pleasant occasion and we were all so happy to have the Institute open and going. I hope that it will mean that I for one can work less at organization and more at the things which really matter. The building itself proved to have very few mistakes and we all enjoy working in it.

Helen joins me in sending our best wishes to you.

Yours sincerely,

WGP/HL.