

Sunday Night March 3.

Dear Nide and Helen:

Tommorrow we shall have a beginning of a new era in The States. The period of settling tight and doing nothing is over. Not that it was not a good thing for the nation but its ended. Fremella and Francis are here to see that our new Engineer President gets a good start. Mother and Father Perry are here too. We have enjoyed the past few days settling the affairs of The nation. It has been lots of fun. How I wish we could put on our skis in the morning with you all! We'd all give up helping Mr. Hoover get a good start for a chance at you.

We have been real concerned about your shoulder. We do hope it's well again. My slight andle inquiry is about well - all except the hair and that will grow. The few days with you in Canada was a dream come true. I'm sentimental enough to say out loud that it was one of those rare passing moments in the simply passing year that is a reward for struggles past and an inspiration for the further battle with life. This probably sounds sanguinary but I don't mean that way. The Good Lord has been good to us all, and among our blessings, Nide, Helen please turn and is the fact that our precious wives two are friends.

The moving pictures I took are excellent. The best part of it in fact is that of you two - a close-up with the girls as a background. We loved your home - and the children. There must be some way made to have our children know each other. We live so fast in this day. Life just crushes down on us. It's hard to find and pick out the worthwhile things of life as the Jews - before them by us. I think you and Helen have managed to do it better, probably than the rest of us but let me beg you to slow up a bit and take time to let your health catch up - I'm serious when I solemnly warn you that the world will ruin more if you keep up your present pace than if you play slow and live a longer life of growing deeper usefulness.
I think I shall go to bed now and finish this in the morning.

Monday Eve March 23.

Many a morning has passed since I wrote the above and let it go unsent I'll sure be glad to have a line telling us how you all are as ever

Paul.
