PRINCETON UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF THE
DEAN OF THE COLLEGE

PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY
December 12,
1 9 1 2.

Gentlemen:

I have very much pleasure in making the following representations concerning Mr. W. G. Penfield, a member of the senior class in Princeton University. I have known Mr. Penfield during his whole college course and have been thoroughly familiar with his record. He has been always a fair student with an improving record in scholarship. He now stands in the top quarter of his class. He has never been subject to any discipline of any kind by college authorities. He has always been regarded as one of the leading men of his class. He has been president for one year of his class, an office to which election is made by all the members of the class. He is at this time, a member of the Senior Council, a body of representative seniors whose opinions have great weight with the governing bodies of the University and who have very great influence in the undergraduate life of the college. He has been constantly interested and influential in the life of the Philadelphian Society, which is the Y.M.C.A. of the University. He has been a member of the Student Honor Committee, a committee which has entire charge of the conduct of the college examinations. He is a member of the University wrestling team, has been for three years a member of the football team and during the last year, a regular member of the University Football Eleven. Mr. Penfield is a young man of the highest integrity, of the finest moral character, of very attractive personality and a very real mental ability. I regard him as one of the leading men of the senior class, whose influence is very great and always for the best.
