

11. Waterloo Crescent
Down

Mar. 28. 1916

Dear Sir William,

I saw Mr. Penfield in the R.M. Hospital today but only for a few minutes as he had a lady visiting him already. He seems to be getting on well, is quite "merry & bright" and is able to sit up in bed. He expressed himself as quite comfortable & being well looked after. He has an injury to his knee and ankle but they do not think any bones are broken but he is to be X-rayed to make certain of this.

I will try & run in and see him again but we are short handed here as elsewhere & times is rather difficult to find.

Yours sincerely
A. J. Fairlie Carter.